FOOLING WITH A BROAD-AXE

The Bangor Whig and Courier puts a letter or lagniappe by reduction in our State expenditures It plants the war which ended more than thirteen years ago as an excuse for keeping up State taxation to a figure that imposes the magnitude it was before the war —Bangor Commercial

It was not to be expected that such false pretenses would attempt to meet a conspicuous fraud like the cheap demagogism of those who propose to relieve our State of its debt with a broad axe without knowing anything at all either a broad axe or our debt The editor of the Commercial in his statement of our position and intention in regard to the relative reduction but if the decrease had been as he knows that the war of three years ago which he did not help make is expensive and productive of the principal cause of the high rate of taxes

If he knew the demands of that war which he helped make Maine were bound to pay they cost the taxes mounted up to three mills on the dollar in 1865 when final triumph enabled the State to reduce one half the next year, a rate which it has been brought down to as near as 1874 and figure it 1878 Does the Commercial editor mean to say that to reduce the rate of taxation was by a third of a mill on the dollar? Does he not know that under Democratic rule when none of these heavy war burdens existed the rate reached as high as three mills on the dollar?

In the last Democratic State Administration the State debt was only $667 000 while at the beginning of the last year it was nearly $1 000 000 the whole of that increase being directly chargeable to that Democratic rebellion which Mr Somerby has indicted But which he is willing to forget. In 1868 the State paid between $3 000 000 and $4 000 000 of war debts, which instead of being an addition to the public burdens was a transfer of that load of debt from the shoulders of the people and property of the whole State Within ten years the State under Republican Administration has paid off between $2 300 000 and $3 000 000 of that war debt and taxes had been reduced in that time Nobody claims that the Republican legislation has been absolutely perfect or that more reductions could not have been made if the representatives of the people had deemed it wise to cut off such institutions that they regarded of great value to the interests of the State But the records show that the taxes have been steadily reduced ever since the State took upon itself the manner of paying its debts The appropriation for 1878 is $1 000 less than for 1877, $111 988 less than for 1876 and $209 307 less than for 1875 Is it by the broad axe style of retrenchment that this would appear like tolerably practical economy

But we did not intend in our purpose in this writing to discuss the general question of taxation further exposure of the ignorance or dishonesty or both of the Commercial would rush forward to cut off the State expenditures at one swoop by the first Monday in December Every paragraph a table of figures would be marshalled his readers to regard the expenditures that he proposes to cut off In the first place those items that were correctly taken from the Treasurer's report of disbursements would be largely exceeded or fall short of the actual expenditure The bills would still be paid and an additional large portion of the warrants for the year But Emerson Bailey and all his readers think the figures given by him as the actual expenditures now and for the next legislature to act upon, and he proposes to withhold from the payment of a large portion of the warrants for the year As a matter of fact the figures given by Mr Emery are over $840,000 in excess of the amounts now provided by law This startling use of figures shows either a lack of accurate knowledge that disqualifies him for discussing the financial problems of the State

He proposes $800 for the Secretary of the Board of Agriculture while but $400 was appropriated for this year the Bath Military and Naval Asylum he puts at $8 000 while but $6 000 was appropriated the Bangor Children's Home he charges with $6 000 while that institution received but $1 000 either in 1877 or 1878 the military expenses at $2,142 42 was really $3 [illegible] for the present year, the Agricultural College he charges with $9 000 while but $6 000 was appropriated under that head for 1878 the Free High Schools he charges with $40 000 but only $37 [illegible] appropriated this year, for military purposes he puts down $10 000 while the appropriation for 1878 was but $2 000, and the savings in the Agricultural College appropriation of $10 218 in 1877, in addition to stating that only $6 000 was appropriated for that institution the past year The above citations will show the cheap demagogism with which Emery tries to assume the role of a champion of the people by telling seriously at matters that he knows nothing about or else will willfully misrepresent

Another illustration even more conspicuously reveals the character of our great economist With broad axe in hand he points to the public that they are burdened with the expenditure of $3 000 per annum for bounty on bears and wolves and bids everybody stand aside while he lops off that appropriation Perhaps he was not aware that the law providing for such bounties was repealed by a Republican Legislature by an act approved February 6th, 1877—nearly two years ago The amount given in the Treasurer's report was paid to town treasurers for bounties due before the repeal and $200 additional was appropriated last winter to meet such cases only $10 of which has been called for

Among his proposed savings an important item was a demand for a "reduction" of $30,000 in the expense for public printing The exact amount paid for State printing in 1877 was $19,976 and in 1876 it was $19 105, so that Mr Emery evidently intends not only to abolish all State printing but to make an assessment on the printer to bring up his $20,000! In this connection it may not be amiss to state that in 1866 under the administration of Wells, the last Democratic Governor, when the amount of work required was but a fraction of that performed at present, the State paid for public printing over $20,800.

If the editor of the Commercial continues fooling with that "broad-axe" he is more likely to chop off his own toes than to make himself famous as a financier. He had better stick to "flat money" and insist that the State can pay all its expenses and make everybody rich by printing shinplasters

THE BLAINE RESOLUTION

[From the N Y Times Dec 7]

Any doubt Mr Blaine may have entertained as to the appositeness of the inquiry he proposes has probably been removed by the criticism which the announcement of his resolution has called forth. It is not often that so much stir is made by the intimation that on a certain day a speech will be delivered and a proposition submitted to the judgment of the Senate Ordinarily cities wait until a speech is before them their praise or censure rests upon knowledge In the present instance this rule is departed from Republicans who would have the Maine Senator studying himself by divesting his proposition of all significance suggest what should be said and what topics should be avoided if they had their way they would render the speech as harmless as the President's Message Democrats on the other hand, are not quite agreed as to the course which they should pursue on the occasion At first, they seemed disposed to treat the speech with silent disdain, and to evince their indifference to inquiry by destroying its specific character Next the discovery was made that after all, it may not be possible to restrain the impetuous Southern nature under the goadings with which such a speech as Mr Blaine can make would abound Senator Hill is spoken of as waiting impatiently for some one to give him a chance The latest rumor is, that the Democrats will not affect an indifference they cannot feel and will therefore follow Mr Blaine in the usual style All this, of course is flattering to Mr Blaine It shows that he has hit the right nail on the head

The resolution is not only eminently proper, but comes so naturally in the progress of events that the excitement it produces is inexplicable The sincerity of the Republican Party might well be questioned if it allowed its accusations against the south to end with the elections. Judging of others by their own standard the Democrats assume that the current statements with reference to the canvass and the voting in South Carolina and Louisiana and in some districts in other Southern States, were concocted for the purposes of the moment Whether true or false from this point of view they would be immaterial The Republican method is essentially different The campaign at the North had been planned with the financial question in the foreground and the Southern question almost out of sight There was a consciousness of the fact that the South was on its trial, and that whether the Southern question should in some form be reopened or not depended on the South itself But pending the trial sectional issues were discouraged Gradually they made themselves heard The tidings from South Carolina and Louisiana revealed a condition of affairs which Northern Republicans could not overlook They saw that in these States the canvass was not free. They saw that intimidation and violence were the agencies relied upon to secure Democratic success The subsequent frauds at the polls especially in South Carolina, realized their worst expectation As a general result they found that states known to have large Republican majorities had been captured by the Democracy and to this extent they consider the elections an outrage

These being the conclusions at which the great body of Republicans have arrived, it is evident that the present session could not be allowed to pass without an attempt to verify them in a manner calculated to convince the country of their truth Mr Blaine's resolution defines the scope of the inquiry and provides the machinery for its prosecution The terms he employs are temperate and the range is so wide that partisan unfairness will be impossible If the Republicans who cry peace when there is no peace" object that the inquiry will necessarily irritate the South and retard the conciliatory process of which blind optimism dreams, the obvious answer is that the South is responsible for the irritation and that even sectional agitation is preferable to quiet submission to wrong The Democrats, again, if their assertions are not intentionally false, should welcome inquiry as the best means of correcting misapprehensions So far at the North Democrats have avoided the subject Not one of them has had manliness enough to denounce the perpetration of crimes that are confessed, as in South Carolina, not one has protested against the virtual disfranchisement of the colored citizens which is the foundation of many of their party's Southern victories We can hardly expect that the Senators and members who represent them in Congress will be more straightforward there. Southern Democrats, however, have talked of exaggeration and misrepresentation They protest their innocence. Mr Blaine's resolution gives them a chance of showing that they are not hypocrites Its hypotheses open wide the door for truth If the Southerners who boast and bluster have any faith in the rectitude of their cause, they will not quarrel with Mr Blaine for discharging the duty which some Republican Senator must have assumed They cannot assail his resolution without strengthening a presumption at variance with their honesty.

Mr Blaine's second proposition follows naturally the first. The primary purpose is to ascertain the truth respecting recent elections in the South Were they free or fraudulent? Were Democrats majorities legitimately obtained, or were they the result of violence and intimidation" If a thorough investigation shows that a very large class of voters were practically disfranchised, and that wholesale frauds were were practiced to make success certain, the feasibility and propriety of further Federal legislation "for the more perfect security of suffrage" will be fit subjects for the consideration of the Judiciary Committee The South professes to accept in good faith the constitutional amendments What value will attach to its professions if lose its temper when legislation giving effect to these amendments is vaguely suggested?

THE MAINE CENTRAL TAX CASE The Kennebec Journal gives the figures of the final decision of the Governor and Council in regard to the Maine Central Railroad tax, fixing the amount that the company shall pay at $37,151.50, besides the interest from the time the tax was due, and costs of suits in the courts. This will make the whole amount to be paid by the company about $45,000 in round numbers. Following are the figures

1874, 50 cents per share,	$19,631.25
1875, 35 " " "	11,486.10

Senators Blaine, Dawes and Christiancy have been appointed a special committee of the Republicans on all political matters to come before the Senate.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

SENATOR BLAINE'S REPUBLICAN LEADERSHIP—THE EXPECTED DEBATE—SILVER SCHEMES, ETC

[From a Special Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6, 1878.

To the Eds or of the Whig & Courier

Mr Blaine by the introduction of the resolutions on the first day of the session, that the Committee on the Judiciary be instructed to inquire and report on the exercise of the elective franchise last month, has virtually placed himself in the Senate, where he former y stood in the House, as the leader of the Republicans

It is thought the resolutions will be called up for act on on Monday, and Mr Blaine's absence from his seat for the past two days is accounted for by the statement that he is engaged in the preparation of remarks to be made on that occasion As Mr Thurman is said to be similarly engaged, it is probable the debate will be exciting The Democrats are said to be considerably demoralized, but hope to make a diversion by insisting on an amendment which shall call for the investigation of every charge of fraud, threats, interference or violence at the polls in each and every State in the Union, by either State of Federal officers As a matter of fact the original resolutions cover the whole field of inquiry

With the possible exception of Grant Blaine undoubtedly is now foremost in the estimation and expectation of Republicans and the popularity of Grant is by no means detrimental to Blaine, as it centralizes, for the time being and holds together party sentiment. There is a strong and growing desire in the Republican party to do in 1880, what it sent its delegates to Cincinnati in 1876 to do—designate Mr Blaine for the next Presidency

There are only about sixty working days in the present session, and political effect and no mistakes will be the study of the great parties So far, there have been introduced in the Senate and House only an even dozen of silver dollar bills, not one of which proposes to put into a dollar's worth of silver so it is likely there will be no change during this session. Before the next, people will have thoroughly tested the merits of silver, and will be prepared to indicate their desire —

In the meantime Senators and members friendly to the coin, will have an opportunity to test its availability and assist to establish its circulation by drawing their salaries in it HOWARD

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Times, a free lance sheet with strong Bourbon proclivities, says the President's message, although not wholly satisfactory to the radical Republicans, was brought at the President and party nearer together He writes

A number of Republicans, who have not heretofore frequented the White House, called last night and this morning to pay their respects They were very warm in their congratulations and the President came more than half way to meet them "The truth is gentlemen," he said, I feel greatly relieved to be on good terms with my own party I am a Republican and I am not last born with my own kind I had much rather be censured by Democrats than by Republicans" And then laughingly, "You may not believe it from the past but it is true, I assure you" By all but the stalwartest Stalwarts, his apology is accepted

MR BEECHER'S KINDNESS TO A MAINE REGIMENT A North Jay correspondent of the Lewiston Journal recalls the following incident

The 18th Maine Regiment from Franklin county on its way to the war, arrived in in Brooklyn late on one bitter night and were unable to get quarters Mr Beecher coming off the ferry, saw a thousand men lying around there and finding they were on their way to the front got the key of the school and let them into Plymouth church, where every man had a cushioned seat and a comfortable night's sleep, and he cared for the sick nearly a week Wednesday night Lieut B H Ridley of Jay, of that regiment, walked eighteen miles in the muddy roads to hear him lecture at Farmington and presented resolutions of recognition of the event which were hearti ly endorsed by the audience Mr Beecher remarked that on that occasion for once in his life he had every seat full in his church and every main aisle up

The Newton (N J) Ransom suggests hat in view of the great changes in public affairs in the last 13 years, the steady absorption of power by the Southern States, and more particularly the violent exercise of that power to prevent the growth of a Union loving sentiment in that section, a convention of Union soldiers and sailors to be held in New York city the coming winter to discuss, in a fair and temperate manner, the best means by which to secure and place beyond cavil the rights of every citizen to free speech, a free ballot, and the equal protection of the laws

The Maine Standard makes the following charge of partisanship against the Republican party

The pacification of the South will never be complete according to Republican ideas until all people support the Republican ticket

And in the same column, within an inch space of the above, it shows how utterly unselfish the Democrats are, thusly

When we have a solid Democratic North and South we shall have peace, honest government and prosperity.

The Bangor Commercial gives notice that Mr Smith is not competent to speak for himself and don't really know what his own political ideas are Mr Smith is particularly fortunate in having so distinguished a politician as Marcellus Emery to speak up for him —Dexter Gazette.

Blaine is busy as usual

Boutelle thinks the President is slowly coming round.—Portland Argus

If the Argus continues to get as much truth as the above into a single edition it will ruin the reputation of that paper.

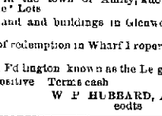
THE UNIVERSAL

Family Dough Mixer and Kneader.



Patented July 23, 1878

The circular is designed to call your attention to the above model representing the most simple and practical FAMILY DOUGH MIXER, ever presented to the public

It is neat in construction rapid in motion, and thorough in its work doing the whole business of Mixing Beating and Kneading without the aid of a spoon or touch of the hands to the dough

This Machine is not confined in its work to the mixing and making of Bread only but is equally efficient in making Sponge and all other kinds of Cake, doing the entire work in the quickest and most thorough manner

We claim that, in the production of light, clean wholesome well mixed Bread and Cake and in saving of time and labor, this little Mixer and Kneader surpasses anything ever before offered to the public

It occupies only the space of the pan, and is so arranged that the Machine is easily removed from the dough, and is easy to clean

A lady can set and mix her Bread and Cake with this Machine, no dog the pan in her lap

Any family having one of these Mixers and Kneaders in use would not part with it for ten times its price, which places it within the reach of every family in the land In two sizes

WASHINGTON.

The Army Bill of the Committee on Reorganization.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. The Committee on Reorganization of the army has completed its labors and will recommend a bill providing the following: The number of enlisted men of the line will be limited to 20,000 men, exclusive of the signal corps. The organization of the artillery is changed from a regimental formation to battalions or companies. The artillery consolidated with the engineer corps. The Quartermaster General's and Commissary General's staffs will be consolidated under the Quartermaster's department and staff corps, as a distinctive branch of the service, is abolished. The ordnance and medical corps retain their present distinctive organization.

The Adjutant General's, Quartermaster General's, Inspector General's and Paymaster General's staff will be done away with and a system of interchangeability in the staff of officers substituted similar to the European system of organization, the object being to give all officers of the army an opportunity of perfecting themselves in the general knowledge of the several branches of the service in the army. In order to reduce the number of officers it is provided that there shall be no more promotions or appointments until the general number of officers have been reduced to a certain number. The offices of General and Lieut. General will cease with the death of the present incumbents. The number of Major Generals and Brigadier Generals is to the lowest point. No change is made in the West Point Military Academy and the general provisions of the bill relate to the elimination, eventually, of all officers of the army who have not received a thorough military education.

The work of surveys and triangulation is exclusively under the control of the engineers.

The army regulations, which have been revised since 1863, are to be thoroughly revised and a new series adopted, to become a part of the work of the reorganization. The important feature of this is the abolishment of a staff as a separate corps of the army, interchangeable with those of line and staff for officers in all grades, excepting the engineer corps. Special provision is to be made for the retention of the cavalry branch of the service, giving it equality in this respect with the ordnance and artillery branch. Ways and means will be secured for promoting officers in the higher branches of the service. Under the provisions of the bill Adjutant-General Townsend and Quartermaster General Meigs are to be retired, their places filled from the line; Lieut. Col. Miles being already mentioned in connection with the position of General Townsend, Col. McKenzie for Quartermaster General.

The Omission from the Sundry Civil Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. The Senate Committee, consisting of Cameron (Wis.) Conkling and Randolph to enquire into the omission of the Hot Springs clause from the sundry civil appropriation bill, met to-day.

A. B. Johnston, clerk in the Post Office Department, testified that he met Senator Conover on the street last August near the Ebbitt House, and had a conversation with him in reference to the attack made on the character of both by a Mr. Benson of the Treasury Secret Service. Prior to this interview he had never conversed with Senator Conover in relation to the Hot Springs matter. Benson and another employe of the secret service division of the Treasury called at the Post Office Department, and wanted him to tell them all he knew about the Hot Springs matter. One of them asked him whether he had been to New York in January in the interest of certain parties in Washington. Told them he had not. Also informed him that he was not at the capital on the night of the session.

The larger man of the two said they had a list of three persons that he was working around the hall of the Senate, to get them to take the paper from Rice, Senator Conover's clerk, who told him to take away with it. Witness replied that he was a pack of d——d lies, and suggested that there was some mistake about it. The large man said there could be no mistake.

Witness went to Acting Postmaster-General Tyner after this interview, and told him the outrageous attack had been made. Witness and Senator Conover asked leave of absence for a few days in order to investigate the matter of the attack. Did not ask who made the affidavits, for he did not believe any had been made. Had conversations with Mr. W. P. Rice in relation to the matter. Rice characterized the whole story as an outrageous tissue of falsehoods calculated to injure Conover. Had no knowledge of the abstraction of papers and had never said he had. W. P. Rice of Pensacola, clerk of the Senate committee on enrolled bills, testified that Johnston was at the capital, if he recollects aright, during the afternoon, but did not see him during the night. The sundry civil appropriation bill did not come to the committee on enrolled bills at all. It was taken by Capt. Bassett directly to the Senate, who had advised him that there was scarcely time for it to go through the committee without another recess, as it was nearly 7 A. M. when the bill came over.

Capt. Bassett, assistant door-keeper of the Senate, testified that he had been employed in the Senate over 48 years. He knew nothing of the sundry civil bill beyond that he received it from one of the clerks of the Senate and carried it to the President five or ten minutes before the adjournment of the Senate.

The bill was not tied up as usual, but the pages were loose. He did not take it to the Committee on Enrolled Bills because he could not find them. Conover informed him after adjournment what had been done, when Conover told him he had been asleep on the sofa. Did not see Rice or any one connected with the committee. The committee then adjourned until Monday.

Senator Blaine's Speech.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. The debate in the Senate on Senator Blaine's resolution in regard to the recent election in the South will begin on Wednesday at one o'clock. It will be opened by Senator Blaine with a brief speech, followed by Senators Thurman and Gordon.

MT. STERLING, Dec. 7. The trouble in Breathitt Co., is not over. Numerous threats are made and citizens are leaving their homes. The life of Judge Edward Strong is threatened and he is now in camp in Bettley Creek and guarded by 60 men. Captain Strong is quartered on the middle fork of the Kentucky river with 20 men, while Ackman with about 25 men is on the north fork. Heavy firing has been heard in the direction of the last named place. The rioters latent running the town of Jackson as merchants are removing their goods. Orders are being sent down for pistols and ammunition.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Wade Hampton's Health.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. It is stated from Washington that Senator Butler has received a letter from Mr. James Haskell, Gov. Wade Hampton's son-in-law, dated Dec. 4th, saying that the Governor's condition is very precarious, and grave fears are entertained that he will not recover.

On Thursday morning the Governor's health was improving, and he had been able to receive delegations from the Legislature and to take the oath of office. Later in the day the sufferer grew worse rapidly and a special train was sent to Charleston to bring up a celebrated physician of that city. The letter of Mr. Haskell says that amputation of the wounded leg will probably take place on Saturday (to-day) and that on the result of this operation depends Governor Hampton's life.

COLUMBIA, Dec. Governor Hampton is getting along comfortably and rests well. There is no truth in the report that his leg was to be amputated Saturday. His condition has not changed during the past few days.

Daniel Vanduysen, who killed a convict named Hope, in the Penitentiary, was indicted at Albany, N. Y., on Saturday, for murder in the first degree.

There was some snow in New York on Friday night, but not enough to cover the ground. At Jamestown, in the western part of New York State, a foot of snow fell. Western advices represent that the remarkable mildness of the season continues.

The Chicago grain market is becoming stronger, and prices are advancing. James R. Keene leads the movement for high prices, and it is reported has already invested $2,000,000. It is reported that Keene is operating for $1,000,000 profit. It is understood that the Milwaukee market is also to be manipulated. The latter market is largely oversold.

Capt. Schwensen, of the wrecked steamship Pommerania, publishes a statement in which he exonerates from blame his officers and crew, and charges the great loss of life or largely the fault of the excited passengers.

Senator Sargent is better and hopes to be able to leave for Bahama Islands next week where he will remain until after the holiday recess.

Harry Genet who returned to New York some time since to appeal from his sentence for complicity in the ring affairs, has again fled on the belief that the decision of the Supreme Court will be adverse to his appeal.

FOREIGN NEWS.

AFGHANISTAN.

The Reply of the Ameer to the Viceroy

LAHORE, Dec. 7. The reply of the Ameer Afghanistan to the Viceroy of India's ultimatum received by Indian Government is dated the 19th of November not having reached Dakko before the 30th of that month, it is believed in official quarters to have been rewritten after the receipt of the news of the capture of Ali Musjid. The Ameer, in acknowledging the receipt of the ultimatum criticizes the professed friendly intentions of the British Government and alludes to its action in the past, especially its intercession in behalf of Yakoob Khan, as contradictory of such intentions. The Ameer explains that his refusal to receive General Chamberlain's mission, was not intended to be hostile, but arose from a fear of the loss of his independence, an apprehension which was confirmed by the allusion in the ultimatum to protection being given to Khyberees who have been engaged in escorting the mission. The Ameer declares that no enmity exists between Afghanistan and the British Government; that he desires to resume his former friendly relations, and, finally, that he will not resist the visit of a temporary mission.

The Financial Difficulties.

LONDON, Dec. 7—2 P. M. The Manchester Courier's correspondent at Bristol telegraphs that he has seen the sub-manager of the West of England and South Wales District Bank, where alleged difficulties had caused uneasiness in the London Stock Exchange, and was assured by him that there was not the slightest truth in the rumor.

Yesterday's rumor, though not confirmed, is reiterated on the London Stock Exchange to-day, where it is persistently asserted that the bank will fall unless held up by outside assistance.

An exchange says: "When we see six hacks assemble at the depot, and the able-bodied drivers unsuccessfully besieging a solitary passenger, we no longer wonder at the profanity of hackmen."

A MAN FALLS SIXTY-FIVE FEET. Thursday night as the schooner Ringleader, Captain Smith, was beating up the river and while off Sandy Point, the Captain sent a young man named Frank Chase aloft to take in the gaff-topsail. The night was very dark and the rigging covered with ice and while endeavoring to adjust the sail, Chase's hands slipped from the ropes and he fell from the cross-trees to the deck, a distance of sixty-five feet, and struck upon the starboard rail. His fall was broken by coming in contact twice, with other portions of the rigging, and strange as it may seem, with the exception of a slight bruise on one of his hips, Chase escaped uninjured. The vessel came to this port Friday night and Saturday morning Chase took the cars for his home in North Bucksport.

"IL TRAVATORE." To-morrow evening occurs the musical treat of the season, the presentation of the Grand Opera, "Il Travatore" by the Adelaide Phillips Opera Co., to which so many are looking forward with anxious expectancy. The advance sale of seats has been almost unprecedentedly large and a brilliant audience will be in attendance. Some good seats may still be obtained at Bugbee's, and those who have not secured their tickets should attend to it to-day. The company present "Faust" in Portland to-night, and will arrive in this city on the Pullman train to-morrow morning, and stop at the Bangor House. As it is absolutely certain that the company will be greeted by a large house, it has been decided to enlarge the orchestra for this special occasion. Accordingly, Mr. Andrews' and several of his orchestra will lend their aid, making, with Carl Eichler at its head, probably one of the finest orchestras ever heard in Bangor.

COMPLIMENTARY. The Medford (Mass.) Chronicle of Nov. 30th, pays the following compliment to two of our Bangor musicians: "The sixth entertainment by Mystic Lodge was held on Tuesday evening, and before the hour of commencing, "Standing room only" was the cry. The artists on this occasion were Mr. Frank L. Crowell, organist and director of music at the Park Street Church, Boston; Mrs. Crowell, of Bangor; Miss M. A. Nichols, soprano; Miss E. F. Nichols, contralto; Dr. L. M. Gould, tenor; Mr. W. F. Nichols, basso; Miss H. F. Burbeck, elocutionist. The several songs were well rendered, the singing of Mrs. Crowell being especially fine. The piano solo by Mr. Crowell was finely executed, and we should judge that he was a highly accomplished musician, but the noise and buzzing of some of the audience, who evidently had "no music in their souls," destroyed the effect of some of the finer passages."

ALMOST A FIRE. At a late hour Saturday morning we learned that a lamp exploded in a house at Cottageville and made a brief item to that effect, and since then we have learned the following particulars of the accident: The house in question belonged to officer McCoy, a member of our night force, who comes on duty at nine o'clock. On Friday evening when he started out his wife, who had retired, told him to leave the lamp burning and he placed it on a table in their sleeping apartment. During the night Mrs. McCoy was awakened and found the lamp all of a blaze and the room full of smoke, and being greatly alarmed she threw some of the bed clothes over the burning lamp and then ran down stairs where there were some other ladies; thinking that she had extinguished the flames. Shortly after this she found the house was full of smoke and went outside and cried fire several times. One man who was aroused by her cries refused to lend her any assistance, but fortunately there were others near who were men in something besides form, and they soon had the bed clothes, which had taken fire, out in the street. No damage was done, but it was a narrow escape from a serious fire.

FOR THE LADIES. The hair should be worn low in the neck. Very high, narrow black coombs are worn. Walking shoes have small round box toes. Side bags are made of the same material as the dress. Dinner and evening dresses are cut square necked. The waistcoat is adopted with all garments this winter. The coachman's coat is a novelty in ladies' street wraps. The favorite button is the Japanese, in metals of three color. Black satin bows are worn at the top of the boots of little girls. Fashionable walking boots have cloth tops to match the costume. Velvets of every description are extensively used for men and twenty-one Councilmen added to the three Assessors to tax us now. Then we drew our water with the well sweep and the "old oaken bucket that hung in the well." Now we have the Holly all over the house, if we will pay for it. Then it took eight yards of print for a dress, now it takes ——deponent saith not.

Then there were were no potatoes exported from the town or city, so far as the writer knows, to much amount until 1842, when he bought a cargo for Robert Trent, of Frankfort, to go to Baltimore, and the average cost was twenty-one cents per bushel, and he has bought every year since from ten to thirty thousand bushels, and the amount exported from this port has reached some years as high as 550,000 bushels, and the price has at times reached $1.50 per bushel, and the average price this year has been 85 cents for Rose and 70 cents for Whites.

In 1840 the purchase and shipping of barries was commenced and is still continued, and amounted in 1868 to thirty-three thousand pounds, or eight hundred and twenty-five bushels that year. Then it was nothing strange to see a six horse team loaded with rum, gin, brandy, &c., in hogsheads and barrels from a store in Central street to replenish the hotels and and stores from Bangor to Houlton.

Face to Face with Disease.

How often it happens that although we have witnessed the ravages of disease in the case of others, we disregard his warning signals in our own. It is only when we find him face to face with us that we really perceive how grim he is. Then, perchance, when it is too late, medicinal aid is sought. His avant courier, his forerunner, is physical weakness. Fortify the system and you are armed against him. The finest tonic for this purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which renders digestion easy and complete, nourishes the system, improves the appetite, gives strength to sleep, counteracts biliousness, and keeps the bowels in first rate order. Leanness and unnatural wanness and sallowness of the face, are obviated by it, and so genial and beneficent are its effects, that not only is the body invigorated and regulated by its use, but despondency banished from the mind. dec3
